

Fruit Processing Firm May Build Plant; Brick-Making Firm Starts Construction

Large Number of Dwellings Also Being Erected in Residential Area; Contractors Kept Busy But Local Housing Situation Remains Tight

Continuous growth of the business and residential sections of Abbotsford and district was reflected in a survey of new dwellings made this week by a representative of the A. S. & M. News and by an announcement by M. M. Shore, chairman of the Board of Village Commissioners, at the Businessmen's Association meeting Monday evening, that two new industries would soon be established in Abbotsford and the surrounding area.

Mr. Shore said that following a number of conferences with representatives of a Vancouver real estate firm, it could now be disclosed that the concern represented by the coast agency intended to erect a fruit processing plant in Abbotsford.

New Brick Plant
Work has already begun on a two-machine brick-making plant which William Ayling, pioneer brickmaker, is erecting for the Abbotsford Fire and Pressed Brick Company on the old Clayburn Road, about one mile east of town. Mr. Ayling has been connected with brick-making plants in Clayburn, Kilgord, New Westminster and other parts of the Lower Mainland over a period of 30 years. He is now residing in Huntingdon.

The new plant, located on the old Siemens property, occupies part of a 1 1/2 acre tract. Pressed and fire brick will be manufactured and sold through wholesale and retail outlets.

Brick-making clay will be brought from nearby Bassani property on Sumas Mountain. It is expected that 10,000 to 12,000 bricks will be manufactured each day when the plant opens early in the new year. Later kilns will be erected for processing fire-brick.

Columbia Grain Milling Co. of Vancouver plans to erect a retail store on CPR property just north of the cold storage locker plant in Abbotsford. The property has been cleared and building is expected to start immediately. When the new grain and feed store opens it will be in charge of J. C. Unruh, well-known resident of the Huntingdon Road district, who has been connected with the company for some time. This building when completed, will mark the third addition to Abbotsford's "grain and milling" row in the past few weeks, as Ogilvie Flour Mills Co. is now erecting a combined retail store on the south end of Railway St. and contractors have just about

Store-Closing Hours Remain For Present

Businessmen's Group Sees No Reason For Change at Present

Stores and business places in Abbotsford will continue to remain closed all day on Wednesday, it was decided at a meeting of the Abbotsford Businessmen's Association, held in Trinity United Church Hall on Wednesday evening. When the question of whether or not the stores should open every Wednesday morning was brought up for discussion, President J. S. Daly, chairman of the meeting, stated that the officers wanted a full discussion of the matter in order that consensus of opinion could be obtained.

A large number of those present presented their views on the subject, the majority being of the opinion that nothing could be gained at the present time by altering the store hours. At the conclusion of the discussion, President Daly said that as the existing store hours were evidently satisfactory to those concerned, the matter would be dropped.

Curfew Discussed

A letter was received from the M-S-A Local, B.C. Teachers' Federation, asking support for a proposed curfew by-law for Abbotsford.

APPLE PICKER'S ARM BROKEN IN FREAK ACCIDENT

If H. H. Nikkel, who resides on Jackson Rd., Abbotsford, didn't happen to be a bit of a philosopher who takes things just as they come, he could become very angry at a cow which caused him to suffer a broken right arm and a good deal of inconvenience.

Mr. Nikkel was standing on a tripod ladder and picking apples in an Abbotsford orchard last Saturday when the cow put in an appearance. It placed its head between the steps of the ladder, moved ahead quickly and brought the ladder and Mr. Nikkel to the ground. Although the injury was very painful at the time, it is now responding to treatment and healing satisfactorily.

Lions Benefit Carnival Is Well Attended

Good-Sized Crowd Enjoys Benefit in Whatcom Road Hall

Friday night's benefit carnival in the Whatcom Road hall was a success in every way, and as a result, Abbotsford Lions' Club, which sponsored the event, will be able to assist Win Fadden by presenting him with a tidy sum of money. Mr. Fadden had suffered two fire losses within the past few years and it was to help him re-establish himself financially on his farm that the carnival was held.

There was fun for young and old in bingo, crown and anchor and other games, and a good program of vaudeville was well received. It included the Sather Sisters, rhythm singers from Chilliwack, and the Hockaday Troupe featuring an amusing mixture of ventriloquism, comedy skits and accordion solos. Refreshment booths appeased the appetites of the big crowd, which found ample amusement on both floors of the hall, and a dance brought the event to a happy conclusion.

Polling Places Announced by J. B. Dennis, RO

Polling booths will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

BROTHERS JOIN FIRM

E. J. Webster, Abbotsford painter and decorator, has taken two of his brothers into the firm. They are Albert, who has just been discharged after serving overseas with the Seaforth Highlanders, and Ralph. Both are former residents of Vancouver and have had years of experience in the painting and decorating business.

Town Planning Committee Is Formed For Abbotsford

G. E. Baynes Tells Businessmen's Meeting Zoning Would Benefit Entire Community

Abbotsford moved a little closer to the idea of town planning Monday evening when 75 members of Abbotsford Businessmen's Association listened attentively to an address on town planning given by G. E. Baynes of West Vancouver, after which six local business men volunteered to act on an advisory town planning commission for the village. Mr. Baynes, a member of the West Vancouver Town Planning Commission and an authority on his subject, declared that every village, town and city in Canada should have a definite plan for zoning and improvements. "In a properly zoned town there is a place for everything. Town planning gives protection against infringement; it stabilizes investments and reduces fire, health and traffic hazards; it tends to keep taxes down greatest good would be derived by the greatest number. "Towns which just grew up, like Topsy, are often very unattractive," said Mr. Baynes. "It is vital that men who are keenly interested in the appearance of the town or city in which they reside should be members of the Town Planning Commission."

Four Men Hurt In Collision Sunday Night

Rushed to Hospital Following Collision Near Abbotsford

Four persons received injuries, none of them serious, in an accident which took place Sunday evening at 8:20 o'clock at the Hill-Tout Poultry Farm corner, three miles west of Abbotsford on the Trans-Canada Highway.

Injured were: Oliver Moore, Coquitlam. George Ferguson, Vancouver. John Ronnings, Vancouver. Stanley Stevenson, Yale Road, Langley.

The accident occurred when a sedan driven by Moore and proceeding east on the highway met in a head-on collision with a coupe travelling west and driven by Stevenson. According to provincial police there were no eye-witnesses to the crash but passing motorists assisted the injured from the badly battered cars. Dr. C. E. McRae of Abbotsford was called to the scene and passengers and drivers of both cars were rushed to the M-S-A Hospital in an RCAF truck. Moore and Ferguson were released soon after receiving medical treatment and Stevenson was released Tuesday. Ronnings is still a patient in the hospital. He is suffering from severe shock and bruises; otherwise his injuries are not thought to be serious.

Ferguson and Ronnings were passengers in the car driven by Moore. Stevenson was alone in his car at the time of the crash. Radiator and windshield of the sedan were almost completely destroyed, while the radiator and windshield of the coupe were also badly damaged.

Members of the Abbotsford detachment, provincial police, investigated the accident.

ELECTION CAMPAIGN WARMS UP; MANY MEETINGS CALLED

With the approach of the date set for the provincial election—Oct. 25th—interest among electors of the M-S-A district is increasing. Representatives of both the Coalition and the CCF have been active in the Area and meetings now scheduled are as follows:

B.C. COALITION

Oct. 18, 8:15 p.m., Matsqui Hall and Bradner Community Hall.

Oct. 19, 8:15 p.m., North Poplar Community Hall.

Mr. Eyres and other speakers will address these meetings.

Oct. 23, 8:15 p.m., High School Auditorium, Abbotsford. Speakers will be Les Eyres, Coalition candidate in Chilliwack constituency and Dr. A. H. Bayne of Vancouver. A program of vocal and instrumental numbers and moving pictures will also be given.

CCF MEETINGS

Oct. 19, 2:00 p.m., Matsqui Hall, election tea, sponsored by Mission and Matsqui ladies; speaker, Mrs. Eva Pfeiffer of Sask.

Oct. 22, 8 p.m., Bradner, speaker, W. T. Richardson, CCF Candidate.

Oct. 23, 8:00 p.m., Mt. Lehman, speaker, W. T. Richardson.

Salvation Army Appeal Now Being Made

Salvation Army's Home Front Appeal got underway in Abbotsford Tuesday when Rev. G. R. Tench, chairman of the local campaign committee and a large number of canvassers began calling on residents of the town and immediate district. Canvassers include Mrs. Norma Fraser, committee secretary; Mrs. W. Groat, Miss Margaret Wattie, Mrs. R. Conway, Mrs. W. D. McIlveen, Miss Alice Anderson, Mrs. Joyce DeProy, Miss Margaret Rutley, H. S. Andrews, Mrs. P. J. Arthur, Mrs. T. W. Heppell, Mrs. Dunham, Mrs. W. Coultts and Mrs. M. J. Lay.

Home Front Appeal is made to provide the "Army" with funds to carry on its work throughout Canada. Care is given to aged and needy persons regardless of race or creed, clothing is provided for children in the poorer sections of large cities and in country districts which have suffered severely through crop failures or from other causes, and every effort is made to rehabilitate those who have fallen on bad times through no fault of their own. In fact, the Army goes even further by recognizing need for assistance wherever it is encountered, regardless of the underlying causes which have brought about the need. In the transition period between war and peace, services of Salvation Army workers have been in greater demand than at any time in the organization history, and for this reason, Rev. Tench and his canvassers are hoping that residents of Abbotsford and district will respond generously to the appeal for funds.

M-S-A Area Year's Objective $350,000; Opens October 22

Compared with the total of the Matsqui-Sumas-Abbotsford Area's investment in the semi-annual 7th and 8th Victory Loans, quota announced as the local objective for the 9th Victory Loan does not represent a formidable task. Citizens will have a year in which to spread payments on their investment in this Victory Loan and, on the average, the quota for each will equal a little better than half the combined investment made in the two previous half-yearly loans.

After conferring with the citizens' committee representatives in the three subunits of Unit 19, Organizers Geo. W. Culver and Jack Ross announced unit and subunit quotas for the 9th loan.

Quota for Unit 19 is $1,000,000. Quotas for each of the subunits centring on Honey, Mission City and Abbotsford are based equally at approximately $350,000.

Each of the subunits exceeded the $300,000 mark in the 8th Loan and Unit 19 as a whole, being the territory between Pitt River and Harrison river, on the north side of the Fraser river and Matsqui, Sumas and Abbotsford area on the south side, almost reached the million dollar investment total last spring. Minimum quota was $825,000, and $958,000, was invested. Requested objective, 10% over the 7th loan investment, was $944,000.

Mission-Dewdney-Nicomen subunit total investment last spring was $330,000; Maple Ridge-Pitt Meadows topped $303,000, and Matsqui-Sumas-Abbotsford exceeded $312,000.

All three subunits invested more than half a million dollars each within the year of the 7th and 8th Victory Loans so should be able to take an annual investment of little more than one-third of a million dollars, the 9th Loan quotas, in their stride, local committees believe.

GRAND MISTRESS VISITS LOCAL LODGE

A special meeting of Coronation L.O.B.A. No. 1025 was held in the Orange Hall, Abbotsford, on Monday evening for the official visit of Mrs. Patterson, R.W. Grand Mistress of B.C. Accompanying her were the following Grand Lodge officers: Mrs. Allan, past Grand Mistress and Juvenile Director; Mrs. A. Gibbard, R.W. past Grand Mistress; Mrs. E. Clarke, R.W. Grand Deputy Treasurer; Mrs. M. McMath, R.W. Grand Auditor, and Mr. W. Knox, Royal Master, Grand Black Perceptor of B.C.

Visitors from Chilliwack, Mission and Otter Lodges attended the meeting.

WRITES ARTICLE ON PASTURES

Leonard A. Zink, former agricultural representative of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. in the M-S-A district, is the author of "Put Pastures to Work", an article on pastures which appears on Page 13 of this issue of the News. After receiving an honorable discharge from the Canadian Army Mr. Zink took up farming at Sardis.

Trouble never comes to a head when apology is afoot.

Almost 1500 Abbotsford and District Residents Visit X-ray Clinic During First Four Days

Efficient Staff in Health Center Assists Three Nurses in Charge of Testing Van; Pictures Taken Rapidly by Modern Camera

Almost 1500 residents of Abbotsford and district visited the Mobile Health Unit during the first four days of its five-day stand at the Health Centre on Essendene Ave. Men and women formed long lines before the health van and moved into the vehicle to take their T-B tests and moved out again in endless processions which began at 10 o'clock each morning and continued throughout the day.

CCF CANDIDATE

Reeve W. T. Richardson

of Chilliwack is representing the CCF in the forthcoming provincial election as the party's candidate in the Chilliwack riding. Mr. Richardson was born in Lincoln, Nebraska, in 1884. He was educated there, came to Canada in 1902 and to B.C. in 1920. A farmer by profession, he is married, has two daughters, and now resides at Atcheltz. With the exception of two years, he was councillor of Chilliwack Municipality from 1927 to 1940, and has been reeve since that time. He is a member of the Atcheltz Farmers' Institute and of the Chilliwack Agriculture Association, and is Chilliwack representative of the Fraser Valley Union Library. Mr. Richardson has been connected with the C.C.F. since 1933.

Attendance figures for the first four days were: Thursday, 433; Friday, 344; Monday, 326; Tuesday, 387—Total, 1490.

Wednesday was another big day at the Health Center with persons desiring to take the tests coming into the town in a steady stream. It was expected that another 300 persons would be X-rayed, and if such is the case the grand total for the Abbotsford clinic would be approximately 1800.

As each person stepped into the van he gave his card and number to an X-ray technician and stepped before a modern X-ray camera which took a chest picture in a matter of seconds. Nurses in charge of the clinic then explained to the negatives the tests that the negatives of the pictures will be examined later by experts, and if it is shown that any person X-rayed is in need of treatment or a further check, they will be notified by mail.

Nurses in charge of the X-ray were Miss Mary White, Miss Helen Dixon and Miss Marguerite Coe. Mrs. B. Thomson and Miss M. Campbell supervised the work of registration in the Health Center and were assisted by a staff of volunteers which included Mrs. Roy Sheldrake, Mrs. C. Baynes, Mrs. A. H. Blakam, Miss P. Gentry, Mrs. N. Barlow, Mrs. G. Bodell, Mrs. F. Harris, Mrs. J. E. Lukas, Mrs. B. Longland, Mrs. W. R. McDonald, Mrs. R. DeProy and Mrs. E. W. Burton. Many of the volunteers are members of the M-S-A Junior Hospital Auxiliary.

"Those who assisted in the Health Center did a grand job and their efforts were certainly appreciated," said Mrs. Thomson as the Clinic came to a close Wednesday evening.

The atom bomb brought our heart into our mouth. Now let's let it speak.

Winning the Peace

Everyone in the country has a vital interest in every Victory Loan, and the success of the forthcoming issue is nonetheless vital because hostilities have ceased. Throughout the war the fervent hope was expressed that we might win the peace, as well as the war. This Loan is for the winning of the peace.

The peace will be won or lost depending on our capacity to convert from war production to peace production and distribution. Conversion costs money, hence the success of this Loan is vital to every man, woman and child in the country.

None will appreciate the situation more than the farmer. For purposes of waging war his economy has been based upon a system of subsidies and subventions. These are in lieu of higher prices to meet his higher costs of production in some directions and to increased costs of production in others.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture last year paid out $104,452,964 on subsidy and subvention account alone. Of this amount $4,472,019 was paid to British Columbia farmers. Distributed among 25,000 farms it meant more than $200 to each farm, more to some and less to others. Dairy men received $1,796,715 from the fluid milk, butterfat, condensed milk and cheese subsidies. Hog raisers received $81,454. Subsidies for fertilizers and lime cost $202,680, while another $202,680 was paid to producers of canning crops. Dairy men, livestock producers and poultrymen benefited to the extent of $2,451,795 through the feed freight assistance plan and the drawback of wheat used for feeding purposes.

These expenditures are part of the costs of war. They cannot be discontinued because the war is over. Without them there would be a sharp reduction in agricultural production. While fighting the war with production might be at an end for the farmer, fighting for the peace with the production has taken its place. The food shortages in Great Britain are serious and in devastated Europe they are critical. There can be no hope of winning the peace for Canada unless she plays her part, and it must be a big part, in the relief of Europe's hunger.

A large part of the money to be raised in Canada's Ninth Victory Loan will be used to extend export trade credits to our Allies, many of whom were our best customers. These credits will be spent here for foodstuffs and other supplies of which we have a surplus.

The success of Canada's financial operations during the coming year will make easier the continuance of a subsidy policy.

The farmer must maintain his production and therefore has a very vital interest, apart from the desire to lay aside a backlog of savings as a protection for the future and a fund for the improvement of his farm and home, in the success of "Canada's Greatest Victory Loan".

Help for Dairymen

News that the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has granted certain relief to producers of milk in the Penticton market area will be welcomed, says The Penticton Herald, as an encouraging sign.

For a long time there has been a good case to justify the half-way step that has now been taken.

"The adoption of such measures would provide for a more stable market price structure and encourage producers to maintain production," reads a copy of the authorization received by the Vancouver office from the Board at Ottawa, in outlining the price at which milk may be sold at retail and wholesale in this market. The over-all intelligence of those in higher authority has at length provided something toward a solution and there is gratitude.

The above wording of the order is exactly what was stated long since by the producers themselves, assisted by the board of trade. But earlier officers whose duty it was to study and weigh the situation here bungled their responsibilities. They professed to know facts here, became dictatorial, soon showed that they were comically unaware of the real details.

Japanese and Prisoners of War

Ninety per cent of eastern Canadians, observes The Comox Argus, think we in British Columbia are barbarians or worse because we believe the Japanese should be sent back to Japan. Or did. Because very soon they will receive their own sons, who were prisoners of war in Hong-Kong and they no longer have that opinion. Here is what one of them said on his arrival from Hong-Kong at Vancouver on his way back east:

"Most of us are from the East and never realized the true nature of the Japs, but if you people from British Columbia ever want to get rid of them, all that we ask is that you give us a chance to help you do it."

Dividing the Province

A locked steel gate separating the coastal area from the vast hinterland from which it draws its strength. That's what the Yale tollhouse it, declares the Kamloops Sentinel. A customs-house dividing British Columbia into two parts.

That, of course, is not what the tollgate at Yale is meant to be. It was originally instituted to collect a toll from all who crossed Alexandra bridge. And with that conception of its purpose there is little disagreement. It long has been held that the extraordinary expenditures entailed in bridging natural water barriers should be paid for (usually over a set number of years) by those who use them. Ferries and great bridges are free from toll only when there are special local circumstances. On this basis, there was little dispute when the tollhouse was opened long, long ago.

The Yale tollgate has persisted long after its justification. Now it is said to be collecting tolls to meet the cost of opening and maintaining the Fraser canyon section of the Trans-Canada highway. That argument cannot be maintained. Even in the case of the truckers, the road-toll argument fails. Certainly the truckers should pay heavily for use of the right-of-way made available to them by the people of British Columbia, but this charge should be levied through the licence fee; on all, not specifically on those who use the Fraser Canyon route.

The Trans-Canada highway serves all of Canada. Local difficulties of construction cannot be assessed against specific areas, any more than the cost of difficult street construction in Kamloops can be charged only to the houses fronting on such street. No, it is the financial burden of all the taxpayers, for, in the end, it serves all.

From the B.C. Capital

The Provincial Government is calling for tenders on the Prince George-Summit Lake section of the Peace River Highway. Bids are returnable up to noon, October 29.

This section will link with the two other sections from Summit Lake to Azouetta Lake, and from Azouetta Lake to Commotion Creek, on which contractors are already at work. Contractors are also working on the substructure for the Pine River bridge. Tenders for another major bridge, over the Parsnip, will not be called until road work is more advanced. The Prince George-Summit Lake section will be 28 miles long, and when it and the other sections are completed, a standard road will be provided from Prince George to Commotion Creek.

To assure that servicemen and women returning home after September 17, and personnel discharged since then, are able to vote in the

Oct. 25 general election, the Provincial Government has drafted special regulations. These men and women will vote within the Province on affidavit, the same as they would if they were outside the Province, and they may vote at any poll instead of being confined to military polls.

JUNIOR POULTRY JUDGING COMPETITION HELD AT LANGLEY

A competition was held at Langley Prairie Saturday to select a poultry team to represent British Columbia at the National Competitions at Toronto in November. Teams from Surrey, Langley, Chilliwack and Mission competed. Judging classes were held with White Leghorns, Barred Rocks and R.I. Reds and each competitor was required to answer 10 questions.

Those assisting in supervising the competition were: G. L. Landon and Miss Echo Lidster, B.C. Department of Agriculture; Dr. S. N. Wood and Prof. Arthur Renney, University of B.C.; Inspector Harry Upton and Harry Reid, Dominion Dept. of Agriculture; and Wm. Hawley of New Westminster.

Results of the competition have not yet been announced.

In 1939, the Netherlands had a Merchant Marine of 3,200,000 tons. In 1942, the 2,500,000 tons still afloat were active in the United Nations war effort.

PROF. KING TO SUPERVISE JUDGING AT TORONTO

Prof. H. M. King, Professor of Animal Husbandry at the University of B.C. will supervise the dairy judging competition at Toronto in November. Associated with him will be Prof. Geo. Raithley, Ontario Agricultural College and Mr. E. V. Parent, Experimental Station, Quebec. This is the first time a B.C. Official has participated in the National competitions.

MT. LEHMAN

The regular meeting of the Local Red Cross Auxiliary was held in the school on Tuesday afternoon. In the absence of the President and Vice-President, the chair was taken by Mrs. J. C. Cherry. It was decided not to send overseas parcels this year, as most of the boys would be home by Christmas. Arrangements for Whist Drives will be made at the November meeting and the Auxiliary expects to continue in operation until Spring, as there is much civilian sewing and knitting to be done. Mrs. Savitsky was hostess.

At the Red Cross meeting it was explained that all garments being donated to the National Clothing Drive should be left at the Red Cross Room in the school or at the Mt. Lehman Post Office before Saturday, Oct. 20.

Mrs. Kuna and Miss Kuna of Vancouver were guests of Mrs. Woods and Mrs. Forrester on Sunday.

Mrs. Farber of Langley Fort and her twin granddaughters, Sheila and Sharon Nickerson, and Mrs. K. Levang and son of Langley Fort visited Mrs. Sidle on Tuesday and attended the local Red Cross meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Taylor and Mrs. Forrester motored to Vancouver on Monday.

Mr. M. Binghour spent a week as guest of her niece, Mrs. D. Nicholson.

Red Cross work sent to Abbotsford during our recent recess were: 21 pr. men's socks, 1 w.s. pullover sweater, 4 bags, 5 pull-over sweaters, 1 high-neck pull-over sweater and 3 pr. men's pajamas.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Nicholson were: Mr. and Mrs. A. Hunter and family of New Westminster, Mr. and Mrs. Stan. Bloomfield and family, Mr. and Mrs. Krogstad and Carol, Mr. and Mrs. M. Quast and family and Mr. and Mrs. J. Cowling of Vancouver.

FRIENDS HONOR MRS. J. LEITH

A surprise shower to honor Mrs. Jim Leith (nee Doris Bearrell) was held at the home of Miss Audrey Langille with about 20 young people attending. Games and contests were enjoyed and after many useful and lovely gifts were unwrapped, dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Langille.

Recently Ridgedale and Matsqui friends presented Mrs. Leith with a eight-piece set of crystal.

Authorization of another $10,000,000 at the next Session of the Legislature to carry out further power developments throughout the Province was announced by Premier John TO SPEND Hart during the HUGE SUM course of an address before a large gathering in Grand Forks Thursday night, Oct. 11. This would supplement the $10,000,000 already authorized by the Legislature, bringing the total for rural electrification and industrial expansion to $20,000,000.

The Premier, when interviewed following the meeting, said that the funds were for the purpose of carrying out extension of services to thousands of rural homes and farms, the acquisition of more utility plants, and for the generation of more power. Mr. Hart further stated that he would elaborate on the details of the vast extension program at a later date, when he would be in a position to give more detailed particulars.

TO RELEASE MEN FROM SERVICES FOR FARM WORK

In a statement issued today Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor, pointed out that special arrangements have been made for sometime to insure the speedy release of men from the Armed Services for employment on the farm. The Labor Department has learned that some question has arisen from certain quarters that arrangements made through the Industrial Selection and Release Committees provide better facilities to industry for securing the early release of men, than is the case with arrangements for agriculture. The Labor Minister said that this was definitely not the case, as special committees were set up last winter to assist in the release of men from the forces for farm work.

Agricultural labor survey committees have been set up in each of the 13 mobilization divisions, under the sponsorship of the Agricultural Employment Division of the Department of Labor at Ottawa.

Committees consist of provincial directors of Farm Labor, Regional Employment Advisers, representatives of Mobilization Boards, and representatives of the Armed Services. Therefore, the Committees are aided by men who are conversant with the problems of agriculture, including farm labor problems.

LAND TAXES EASED

British Columbia's Coalition government is pledged to increase its share of basic education costs from 32 to 55 per cent in a bold measure to reduce the burden of education taxes upon municipal property holders. Premier Hart has pledged implementation of provisions of the Cameron report to achieve this.

Fraser Valley municipal ratepayers are well aware of the burden of education costs. This sharing of the load by the provincial government is the most far-reaching relief for municipal taxpayers any provincial administration ever offered.

Highlights of the Cameron Report Provide For:

1. Basic education standards for B.C. higher than any other Canadian province.
2. Basic salary schedules for teachers with appropriate increment provisions.
3. Government assumption of 50 per cent of the cost of school buildings and equipment, increased from present 20 per cent minimum.
4. Land tax of 5 mills for basic education costs on assessed value of land and on 75% of improvement values.
5. Provide a basic method of equalizing municipal contributions to education costs, by taking into account municipal assessment variations.
6. Total increase in provincial government participation in education costs will be approximately 23 per cent.

The Cameron Plan has been accepted by the Hart-Maitland government... its benefits will be felt by every municipal property owner! See that the Cameron Plan is carried out... support your Coalition candidate!

RANGERS RECEIVE ORDERS TO TURN IN EQUIPMENT

Pacific Coast Militia Rangers are rapidly passing out of the picture of the Lower Mainland. Disbandment orders have now been issued to all units of the home defence organization following the stand-down which took place at Brockton Park, Vancouver, Sunday, Sept. 30. In Abbotsford, the order has been received by Capt. T. V. Thompson, officer commanding the Rangers in this area, and he has consequently ordered that all PCMR equipment be turned in to headquarters. Members with less than 90 days' service will also be required to turn in their uniforms.

Experimental Bulb Farm For Valley Urged

Suggestion that an experimental farm specializing in bulb growing should be established in the Fraser Valley was advanced by President Fenwick Fatkin at the annual dinner of the Bradner Bulb Growers' Association held in Trinity Church Hall, Abbotsford, on Friday night.

There were several advantages for British Columbia and Canada in encouraging the industry, Mr. Fatkin declared, not the least in the post-war era being the fact that bulb growing, he said, employed more labor per acre than any other branch of agriculture.

Guests who spoke briefly at the function were Les. Eyres, MLA, Reeve James Simpson of Matsqui; G. E. W. Clarke, district horticulturist; and Lang. Sands, publisher of the A. S. & M. News.

Trinity Church Ladies' Aid catered to the dinner, thus providing an evening of relaxation for the Bradner ladies. About ninety persons attended. Entertainment, interspersed with community singing, was provided by members of the association.

"We are glad that Mr. Eyres is able to accept our invitation and be with us on this occasion," said Mr. Fatkin, introducing the provincial member for the district. "Mr. Eyres has the interest of our industry at heart and is the first man to help us however he can."

Responding to this introduction, Mr. Eyres declared that in the development of bulb growing at Bradner he knew of "no better example of real hard work". The growers, he said, deserved a great deal of credit for the results. They were fortunate, he said, in having men of the calibre of Mr. Clarke, district horticulturist, and his associates to assist them. Mr. Eyres also urged that the growers and farmers generally avail themselves "of the wonderful information that is to be had from your Department of Agriculture at Victoria", and assured them of his co-operation in every way. Reeve Simpson contrasted the prosperity achieved by Bradner community through its own efforts to specialize and gain revenue other than from milk and eggs upon which so many depended. Continued co-operation in this effort would assume continued success, he said.

On behalf of himself and colleagues, Messrs. Hastings and Boscher, Mr. Clarke said that: "In recent years association with the bulb growers had been a pleasure and that the improvement in bulb stock has been very gratifying." He also expressed appreciation of "the sincere and careful manner in which you have handled your fields at inspection time." An educational exhibit and demonstration arranged during this period, he suggested, would be of value to both growers and interested public.

completed the erection of a large elevator for Buckfields Ltd. Contractors Busy
Erection of new dwellings in Abbotsford and district continues at a steady pace and local contractors expect that when lumber and building material controls are relaxed by the government, work will begin on a large number of new homes which have been in the planning stage for some time. In the meantime, J. Ulvild and J. P. Guedo, local contractors, are busy on a nine-roomed house which they are erecting for Ernest Herpberger on the north end of Railway St. The same contractors recently completed a six-roomed modern house for A. K. Paul on Cedar Ave.

J. A. McDonald, another local contractor who has been kept busy all summer, is supervising work on the building which he is erecting for Wakefield Tires & Accessories on the east end of Essendene Ave., next door to the A. S. & M. News office.

On the north end of Nelson Road P. Jones is assisting Hugh D. Smith on a five-room bungalow which is being built for the latter.

Dan Kippen is erecting a five-room bungalow on the Trans-Canada highway just east of Abbotsford and Viner and Allan, Contractors are building a similar bungalow on the McKenzie Road for Pacific Milk Co.. It will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dunn.

M-S-A School District workmen are busy erecting a stout bumper fence to enclose a portion of the school board's property adjoining the Philip Sheffield High school. The property, consisting of two lots on Pine Street, was purchased earlier in the year and will eventually be used as a playground.

Erects Own Home

On Maple Ave., in the Matsqui section of the village, George Geary is building himself a modern house of four rooms and a bathroom. Around the corner on McCrimmon Drive Stanley Grigg is erecting a three-room bungalow for his brother, Ralph Grigg, now residing on Peardonville Road.

Activity on the south side of Elm Street centers around two bungalows which are being moved forward and placed on top of basement excavations which have just been completed. The first bungalow, owned by Roy Serle and occupied by Mrs. Kate Kersley, will be moved by Mr. Serle. The second bungalow is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adamson.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS PLAN SOCIAL CENTRE

Students' Council of Philip Sheffield High School in Abbotsford is sponsoring the formation of a social center for the young people of Abbotsford and district. Object of the students is to provide a place where they can meet and enjoy themselves. They feel that there is no suitable recreation centre in Abbotsford and that it is better for young people to meet under proper supervision than to attend unsupervised dances and parties.

In furthering their desire to arrange for the social center, students are circulating a questionnaire among parents, who are being asked whether or not they would support the proposed center and for suggestions regarding the plan.

Correction

In the legal notice of the Arnold Water Works applying for a water license, in the issue of October 10, the date should be "17th day of October, 1945", and not "17th day of September" as was published.

LEGAL NOTICES

APPLICATION FOR A WATER LICENSE
Water Act, 1939
(Section 6.)

I, Arnold Water Works of RR2, Abbotsford, B.C., hereby apply to the Comptroller of Water Rights for a license to divert and use water out of Bryce Creek which flows Westward and discharges into Sumas Drainage System, and give notice of my application to all persons affected.

The point of diversion will be located at West Map 5732 North 1/2 Sec. 2, Twp. 19.

The quantity of water to be diverted or stored is 40,000 gals. per day.

The purpose for which the water will be used is domestic and stock.

The land or mine on which the water will be used is Sec. 2 and 3 of Township 19.

The details are mailed to the Comptroller of Water Rights at Victoria, B.C.

A copy of this application was posted at the proposed point of diversion or site of the dam and on the land or mine where the water is to be used on the 17th day of October, 1945, and two copies will be filed in the office of the Water Recorder at New Westminster, B.C.

Objections to this application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights at Victoria, B.C., within thirty days of the date of the posting on the ground.

J. P. FRIESEN,
Sec. of the Arnold Water Works
R.R. 2, Abbotsford, B.C.

MISS E. LIDSTER INSPECTS POULTRY FLOCKS IN DISTRICT

Miss Echo Lidster of the B.C. Department of Agriculture, Poultry Section, visited the M-S-A district last week to inspect the flocks of the members of the club and to receive reports from members.

In the near future, the Dept. of Agriculture will announce standing of flocks and prizes to the six members receiving highest standings.

On Saturday a selected team consisting of Walter Baines, Marvin Bell and Audrey Tench, as observers, accompanied the Supt. of the Club, Rev. G. R. Tench, to the Provincial poultry judging contest held at Langley Prairie for teams from Boys' and Girls' Clubs. A most interesting and instructive period was spent in watching the judging of White Leghorns, Rhode Island Reds and Barred Plymouth Rocks and listening to the oral examinations.

The Veteran at Home
Veteran Purchases Farm and Machinery

A cream separator, as well as a tractor and new machinery were purchased by W. S. Cowan from the proceeds of his first year's crop. A casualty at Dieppe, Cowan was established on his own farm under the Veteran's Land Act.

This week's column answers some of the frequently asked questions about who to see in connection with various phases of rehabilitation.

I would like to apply my Re-establishment Credit to the setting up of a small business. Whom should I contact in this matter?

You must write to, or visit, the nearest district office of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, since in the final analysis it will be this Department which will approve or disapprove your application. Of course, sound commercial advice can be obtained from any of the hundreds of Citizens' Committees throughout Canada, or your local Chamber of Commerce, or Better Business Bureau. On the whole, however, the DVA will be found to have the most comprehensive machinery for investigating all the circumstances connected with your case.

How do I go about getting a home under the National Housing Act?

Secure a Questionnaire from a branch office of the National Housing Administration or one of the approved Lending Institutions, and answer fully all the questions therein. When your application has been approved, see, or write to, the District Supervisor of Re-establishment Credit at the nearest office of the DVA. You must do this in order to get the proper authority for the expenditure of your Credit.

In the event that I do not wish to take advantage of the NHA, whom do I see about building a home with my Credit?

The District Supervisor of Re-establishment Credit at nearest office of DVA. Only from him can come the authority to use your credit, and if the authority is not given, the DVA will accept no responsibility for expenses incurred.

What is the process by which I obtain whatever licenses are necessary for me to operate my own business?

See the local office of the War-time Prices and Trade Board. If you have satisfied them that your business has a good chance of succeeding, they will show you how to obtain a business license. They will also give you sound advice about the method for getting the supplies you need to set up your stock.

Recently discharged members of the armed forces who desire to obtain information regarding their problems should write to any of the following members of the A-S-M Citizens' Rehabilitation Committee.

H. W. Ellis or Harry Day, Abbotsford; Frank Aish, Sumas Prairie; Dave Blacklock, Matsqui; W. R. Redman, Bradner; L. J. Kettle, Poplar; Reeve J. Simpson or J. P. Notes and Jottings

On parade last Thursday we were introduced to our new training officer, Capt. McGowan, 4th Princess Louise Dragoon Guards. Recently returned from overseas and over there since the early days of the war, Capt. McGowan is a Recce officer of long standing and we are very fortunate in having him appointed Squadron Instructor.

As one of those responsible for the organization and training of the first Recce elements formed in Britain after Dunkerque, his story of what happened to their original equipment, 20 combination motorcycles and their crews, made most exciting and interesting listening.

Rumour has it that we are to be issued with a new weapon, the nature of which may not at present be disclosed. We can say however that we will own a No. 19 R/T set this week.

JUBILEE

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Satchell for the Thanksgiving holiday were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. Bonell and family, and Jack Stewart, all of Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Pennway and family of Vancouver visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart for Thanksgiving.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Orrock for Thanksgiving dinner were Mrs. Orrock's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Soren Bergquist of Ferndale, Wn.

Mr. and Mrs. Orrock, and Agnes Hudson, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bergquist in Bellingham.

TWO HUNTINGDON FAMILIES HONORED BY FAREWELL PARTY

On Monday evening a farewell party was tendered two well known Huntingdon families. Held in the schoolhouse, the affair was an old style community turn-out in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown and Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Dawson, prominent Border residents for 24 and 23 years respectively. Both are leaving shortly for Vancouver.

The first event of the evening was a parcel wrapping contest for married couples, in which wives used only their left hands and husbands their right. Winners were Aubrey Blanchards and the George Stones, with consolation prizes going to Mr. and Mrs. W. Fraser and Mr. and Mrs. Colin Blatchford.

In the pea shooting contest, in which toothpicks doubled for peas, the top lady was Mrs. Stone and the top man Mr. Colin Blatchford. Leading losers were Mrs. Alan Crouter and Mr. Harder.

After the games, Mrs. Harry Beeston presented the honored guests with handsome bridge tables, tokens of the community's regard, and was warmly thanked by both couples.

Later, cards were enjoyed, and refreshments, with members of the Women's Institute taking charge of all arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown came to Huntingdon 24 years ago, starting the berry farm which has developed over the years into one of the show places of the country. This fourteen acre raspberry farm has received wide publicity as one of the finest and certainly one of the most progressive in the north-west. The quality of the fruit and the excellent living quarters provided for the pickers have made it famous. Mr. Brown has served also as city electrician in Sumas, Wn., for sixteen years.

Their three children, the youngest of whom was born in Huntingdon, all attended the local school. Lt. William Brown of the U.S. Army, their eldest son, has returned from overseas and is now enjoying a leave with his parents. He plans to enter the University of Washington in Seattle after his discharge. Peggy the only daughter, is employed as a stenographer in Seattle, Phm. 2/c Tom Brown of the U.S. Navy is at present on his way to Okinawa. Mrs. Tom Brown is living in Tacoma.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Dawson have been general merchants on the Border for the past 23 years and recently sold their business to F/O Jack Findlay.

Lieut (NS) Helen Dawson is now in England awaiting passage home after seeing service on the continent. The eldest son, John, a chemical engineer, graduated last year from the UBC, and is now employed in Vancouver.

AB Perry Dawson, serving in the Canadian Navy, is now stationed at Esquimalt.

Both families have taken an active interest in community affairs during all their years on the Border, and will be very much missed in Huntingdon.

BEHARRELL - NELSON

A quiet wedding, attended only by the groom's family, was solemnized at the home of Rev. D. Donaldson, Mission, on Thursday evening, Oct. 4th, at 8 p.m. when Dorothy May Nelson, second daughter of Mr. P. E. Nelson of Edmonton, Alberta, became the bride of Gordon Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beharrell of Matsqui.

The bride was attired in a three-piece ensemble of Harris Tweed and a corsage was of cream rose buds.

She was attended by Mrs. Carter of Mission while Mr. Wallace Machell supported the groom.

A reception followed at the home of the groom's parents with about twenty-five guests attending. Following the reception, the young bridal couple left by motor to visit the bride's home in Edmonton.

HUNTINGDON

Guests of Mrs. Helma Yarwood for Thanksgiving dinner included her daughter, Mrs. Howard Bell of New Westminster; F/S and Mrs. Clare Yarwood and small daughter Karen of West Vancouver, Mrs. Fraser York and Mrs. Maud Flemming.

Mrs. M. S. Sutcliffe of Vancouver was a recent visitor with her daughter, Mrs. P. H. Dawson.

Little Miss Ivy Welkie has made a good recovery after a recent tonsil operation at the M-S-A Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans and son Donald, of Chilliwack, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Evans and daughter Hattie, of Abbotsford, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

Paddy Thompson, a newcomer to Huntingdon is relieving as caretaker of the Customs & Immigration building during the continued absence of W. Sayce, who is still undergoing treatment at Shaughnessy Military Hospital.

cover spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hansen.

Mr. and Mrs. L. McDermid and family have returned to Deep Cove after spending Thanksgiving weekend as the guests of Mrs. A. Bell.

The Presbyterian Church Harvest Festival will be held on Sunday, Oct. 21st.

Mr. Pollock, who has been conducting the services at the Presbyterian Church, is resuming his studies at Union College, Vancouver, and Mr. Chambers of the College will take his place.

4 lbs. 2 Coupons 5 Tokens		1 lb. 5 Tokens		1 lb. 4 Tokens		10 Ounces 2 Tokens

Are you hankering for a roast of beef? The far-sighted housewife will realize that under meat rationing her family of four can enjoy a Sunday roast, and the other meals of the week too, if she budgets her coupons with care. By parting with two coupons and five tokens you can procure a four pound rolled rib roast of beef from Group B. A Yorkshire pudding and good brown gravy should ensure enough of it being spared to slice cold for Monday. And for Wednesday, a roly poly is a tasty way of utilizing the remnants. Just season the ground meat, moisten it with gravy or vegetable juices, roll it up in your best biscuit dough, bake in a hot oven, and serve with a zesty tomato sauce. For Tuesday veal cutlets are appetizing exchange for five tokens. One pound of lamb chops for Thursday will require four tokens, and with unrationed fish for Friday you will have two tokens left from your week's allotment. A savoury spaghetti dish highlighted with the season's green peppers, tomatoes and mushrooms and topped with well-browned sausages would make a substantial main course for Saturday. And of course off-the-ration items such as cold sliced tongue offer solution to luncheon problems.

The house that Jack didn't build

WE'VE ALL HEARD of the house that Jack built, but nobody hears of the houses that thousands of Jacks haven't built. They've existed in dreams, or they may actually have been planned, but for one reason or another they have failed to materialize.

When you see an old weed-covered plot transformed into a street of cosy homes... when you see old tumble-down barns replaced by fine new buildings on prosperous farms... you can usually figure that a mortgage loan has helped these people to realize their dreams.

A portion of every dollar invested by Life Insurance companies has helped finance town and farm mortgages for solid thrifty borrowers all across Canada. The balance is in government and municipal bonds, industrial securities, etc. Life Insurance builds prosperity at the same time that it stands guard over the homes and loved ones of four million policyholders.

"I'll Take Three Dozen On A Plain White Mount"

During the past week one of the familiar sights on the local scene has been the X-Ray van of the T.B. section of the Department of Public Health. It's creamy bulk and the crowds of people surrounding it have become a fixture, as well as the sound of its rather asthmatic sounding machinery — the latter somewhat akin to an outboard motor with the croup.

Like almost everyone else in town I too went down to "have my picture taken", and found it to be a most social occasion. There we found neighbors and friends lined up in a long queue, their appointment cards clutched in their hands, waiting to be given a number which would admit them to the mysterious van. The rather hectic gaiety and somewhat overdone nonchalance that I found displayed by my fellow "waiters", I found most heartening as it convinced me that they too shared a secret conviction that they were about to be weighed and found wanting, and would be Tranquille bound in the morning. (I must confess to being very susceptible to suggestion. Reading "Forever Amber" made me equally certain that an out of season mosquito bite could be nothing but the onset of the black plague.)

The long line moved steadily forward and my card grew steadily limper and limper from the death grip of my hot little hand. By this time I found myself reflecting with more than my usual sympathy on the plight of the poor Jew in Hitler's Germany, for I felt as though my name had suddenly become "Rabino-vitch" and that of the lady at the desk Julius Sheicher.

Finally I received my number and moved on toward the concentration camp — pardon me — X-ray van. Having had a long conference with a friend who had gone through the process previously I had come stripped, as it were, for action, and had practised a sort of Gypsy Rose Lee-ish routine which was designed with an eye to modesty rather than entertainment. Not for me the aura of the footlights, and the heady cries from the gallery of "Take it off! Take it off!" This was to be more in the spirit of the unveiling of some noble monument.

At long last (all of ten minutes having passed) there I was being beckoned into those sacred precincts and with a muttered:

TOWN PLANNING

Encourages Development
The speaker said that zoning encourages the development of prescribed areas (such as residential or industrial areas) in a logical and orderly manner, zoning promotes a logical system of arterial, major and secondary streets and that property values are protected and preserved, especially property located in residential districts.

In outlining some of the problems dealt with by town planners in various cities, Mr. Baynes said that Vancouver has often been faced with the fact that far too many potential merchants desired to build far too many stores for either their own good or the good of the city as a whole. During various depressions hundreds of these stores became tenantless.

"Through these portals pass the most beautiful girls in the world," I mumbled the steps.
From there on things happened so quickly that I barely had time to nod to the pretty attendant on the way in, before I was being ushered out. I can remember feeling rather like the prow of some old sailing ship as I stood with my nose in the air and my chin resting on some piece of machinery, but didn't even have time to assure my best smile before it was all over.

I can't help wondering if it was a good likeness.
—M.E.A.

and formed the nucleus of slum areas which it has taken years of planning to eradicate. Under the present system, the number of stores to be placed in each residential area is limited wherever possible. This has resulted in a greater degree of prosperity for the merchants and a big improvement in the appearance of many sections of the city.

Answers Many Questions
At the conclusion of his address, Mr. Baynes answered many questions on town planning. President Daly said that, judging from the keen interest displayed by those present and the questions which had been asked, it was apparent that a large majority of those present were in favor of Town Planning. He asked those willing to act on an advisory Town Planning Commission to volunteer for the work and six members of the Association have to date agreed to devote their spare time to a study of the subject as it affects Abbotsford. A Commission's membership usually total nine and anyone interested in this subject should approach the Secretary of the Association and enter his name upon a membership list. As in all other communities, the Committee will make recommendations to the Village Commissioners on suggested improvements and if the commissioners find it both possible and advisable to implement the suggestions, the wishes of the commission will be carried out.

Following his address and the question period, Mr. Baynes was given a hearty vote of thanks by the members.

REPORT FISH AND GAME PLENTIFUL

Four Abbotsford Hunting Parties Return From Trips To Cariboo

Three Abbotsford hunting parties have just returned from the Cariboo to report that hunting and fishing in that part of British Columbia is all to the good. Scenery along the way was picturesque, and although the weather during the last two weeks was not perfect, there were no complaints on that score.

William Roberts and Charley Hayes, well-known old-timers, arrived back last Wednesday after a trip by car which took them as far as Terry Creek, 38 miles north of Quesnel and 443 miles from Abbotsford. They panned for gold on some of the creeks in that region but didn't strike anything which would change their financial standing to any great extent, according to Mr. Roberts, who panned gold in the Klondike many years ago.

Earn Coyote Bounty
From Terry Creek, Mr. Hayes and Mr. Roberts motored to Marguerite, B.C., where they enjoyed a visit with Herb Hill, well-known old-timer of those parts. They also hunted around Mud Lake, and Mr. Hayes brought

When Edwin Woods and Charley Arnett headed their car eastwards for a trip to the Williams Lake country they decided that they were not going to waste time looking over the country or listening to the reminiscences of the Cariboo's old-timers. They left Abbotsford Tuesday night, reached the Williams Lake area, saw a good-sized moose — shot same; sighted a deer — ditto; and headed back for Abbotsford. They arrived home at 8 p.m. Thursday without having gathered any notes on Cariboo history, past or present, but with two fine animals as proof of the fact that they were right on the beam when it came to hunting.

down a coyote which was worth a bounty of $5. At Williams Lake they enjoyed a reunion with Alf Smalberg, former Abbotsford bakery proprietor. They report that Mr. Smalberg is doing practically all of the baking for a very large section of the Cariboo country, and as a result, seldom sees a dull moment. Stopping off at Watch Lake, near 70-Mile House, on the way back, the Abbotsford old-timers found themselves in a fisherman's paradise. They pulled the fish in as fast as they could get them off their lines. "It's the best fishing spot I have ever come across," declared Mr. Roberts on his return — and Mr. Hayes is in definite agreement with such a statement. The two men were away for three weeks and were both enthusiastic about the Cariboo when they returned home.

They Got a Moose
Mr. and Mrs. Butch Merrick and Mr. and Mrs. Vic Tessaro, also made the long trip to Watch Lake by car. They shot one good-sized moose and in the week they were up in the Cariboo they caught so many trout that they almost grew tired of reeling them in. They had a grand time, however, and speak enthusiastically of the Cariboo.

Joe Olson and Orland McMaster chose the Black Water River district, 50 miles northwest of Quesnel, for their hunting trip. They brought down a moose at Swan Lake and report that the fishing on the Black Water was good. Scenery along the Cariboo highway was excellent, according to the hunters.

FOUR LIVES LOST IN MINING MILLION TONS OF COAL

An average of four lives have been lost in mining each 1,000,000 tons of coal in British Columbia since 1935, according to the annual report of the Department of Mines. Fatalities in 1944 were below the average, there being 1.55 fatal accidents per million tons of coal mined; during 1943 the figure was 4.33; 1942—5.15; 1941—2.21; 1940—3.65; 1939—1.35; 1938—7.63; 1937—6.92; 1936—5.94; and 1935—4.21.

TOURS FRASER VALLEY FOR FARM GROUP

J. W. Carmichael of Chilliwack, who has just been appointed as field contact representative of the British Columbia Federation of Agriculture, visited Abbotsford and many sections of the M-S-A district last week while on a tour of the Fraser Valley in the interests of the organization. He conferred with a large number of farmers in the area.

Mr. Carmichael is one of the veterans of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, of the co-operative movement in this Province and of the marketing movement in Canada. His designated duties will be to effect closer relations between the present member groups of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture and to enlist membership of new farm groups.

ON EXTENDED LEAVE

Pte. Alvin Wiebe surprised his parents, Rev. and Mrs. P. J. Wiebe, Harris Rd., by arriving home unexpectedly last Thursday on extended leave. He was welcomed home by his parents, four sisters and four brothers. The eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiebe, Alvin, came to the Matsqui district from Foam Lake, Sask., with his family about a year ago and joined the Army at that time. He has been in training at Camp Borden, Ont.

SECRETS REVEALED

Europe's Children In Urgent Need Of Warm Clothing

Some Kiddies Clad Only in Rags

The splendid project to obtain serviceable used clothing from the Canadian people through a National Clothing Collection, sponsored by the Canadian United Allied Relief Fund on behalf of UNRRA, is receiving commendation from all quarters. None more than from the representatives in the Dominion of the liberated countries of Europe who will benefit from the gifts now being made.

Typical of this support is a letter to W. M. Birks, National Chairman, from Mr. Pero Cabric, Charge d'Affaires for Yugoslavia, in which he writes: "Insofar as Yugoslavia is concerned I cannot state with too much emphasis how very great and urgent is the need for clothing, and most particularly amongst the children, most of whom are completely destitute."

Mr. Cabric, in his desire to assist the campaign, supplemented his best wishes for its success with the following statement:

"Yugoslavia is one amongst the enemy occupied countries of Europe which has suffered mostly by the war. The war has left thousands of children parentless and destitute. The entire economic life of the country has been paralyzed, and now, even the agricultural production on which earlier had depended the surrounding countries, is insufficient for the need of the harshly reduced population."

"According to recent reports, very few people have a suit of wearable clothes, while most of the others are in rags and go barefoot. A large number of abandoned children have no clothing at all — they are wrapped in newspapers."

"Because of the starvation, lack of most essential medicines, and especially the lack of clothing, the coming winter may undermine the health of the people of Yugoslavia and spread epidemics inside and outside the country if the so-much-needed help of friendly humanitarian people does not reach in time the nation which contributed so much to the common victory."

Residents of the M-S-A district have been asked to bring surplus used clothing to the Superfluity Shop in Abbotsford. It should be clean and in good repair.

Mechanized Farming for China
• The future of China, which has been through so much in the past few years, is of vital concern to the world at the present time. The farmers of Canada, who have been doing such a magnificent job of keeping the food basket of the world reasonably well filled during the war, will be interested to learn that the experts in China are giving increasing thought to the agricultural needs of their country in which farmers comprise three-fourths of the total population.

I have been reading an article by Shen Tsung-Han, Deputy Director of the Chinese National Agricultural Research Bureau.

China's agriculture can, and should be mechanized, he says. The use of animal and human labor is too expensive, Shen Tsung-Han notes. Farm animals in China are, as a whole, too weak to work properly. To improve them, better feeding and scientific breeding are necessary.

He also notes that farms in China are too small for the economical use of agricultural machines. The first remedy is to enlarge the farms. The second remedy is to put the ownership and operation of agricultural machines on a corporate basis. He wants to see the formation of agricultural machine companies to render service to individual farms at charges based on the area of land sowed. To prevent the evil of monopoly, individual farmers should be given the privilege of becoming shareholders in these corporations.

BLACK FLAGS on U Boats

When Nazi U-boat commanders hoisted black flags of surrender, it was a "go ahead" signal to the three out of every eight Canadians who normally depend for their livelihood on export trade.

For five years the flow of foreign trade has been largely a government responsibility. But now, to help create peacetime jobs, Canadian enterprise must do its full share in finding customers abroad. This means doing business all over the world, in strange and distant cities, in a hundred languages and currencies.

Canadian banks have a key role in this complicated but essential peacetime task. Every day their foreign branches and correspondents arrange credits, handle documents and perform other intricate operations to bring buyers and sellers together across the obstacles of distance, language and custom.

This banking service is of primary importance to business and to every Canadian worker as Canada turns to the task of recreating trade abroad to provide jobs at home.

APPLE RECIPES

... Tested and Approved by Dominion Experimental Kitchen

By Laura C. Pepper
Chief, Consumer Section
Dominion Dept. of Agriculture

The fruits of summer have come and all too quickly, gone. But delicious as they were their absence is not felt too keenly for now the apple comes into its own. It is a fruit that is at home at any meal, and the woman whose repertoire contains a variety of apple recipes will have no complaints from the family if she serves apples daily for the next few months.

These recipes from the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture are one you'll want to use frequently.

Peppermint Apples

(Baked apples with a new twist)
6 medium apples
6 tablespoons grated cheese
1/4 cup sugar
Peppermint flavoring
1/2 cup water

Wash and core apples. Place in baking dish. Mix cheese and sugar and add 3 or 4 drops of peppermint flavoring. Fill centres of apples with this mixture. Pour water into pan and bake in a moderate oven, 350°F. until apples are tender; about 20 minutes. Serve hot. Six servings.

Apple and Onion Casserole

6 medium onions
6 medium apples
8 slices of bacon
3/4 cup tomato juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup soft bread crumbs
Peel onions and cut crosswise into 1/8 inch slices; peel, core and cut apples similarly. Cut bacon into small pieces, fry, and remove from pan. Pour off all but one tablespoon of the fat and toss the bread crumbs in it, coating them well and browning slightly. Grease a fairly large baking dish. Arrange the onions, apples and bacon in alternate layers. Combine tomato juice and salt, and pour over onions and apples. Top with the browned bread crumbs. Cover baking dish and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°F for 30 minutes. Uncover and cook 15 minutes longer. Six servings.

Apple Charlotte

1/4 inch slices of bread, about 9
6 small apples
1/4 cup sugar
Line greased muffin tins with the bread, placing a circle of bread at the bottom. Wash and core apples. Place in the bread lined tins. Sprinkle with sugar, (cinnamon or nutmeg may be mixed with the sugar if desired). Bake in a moderate oven, 350°F. until apples are tender, about 20 minutes. To serve, invert on plates and serve hot with vanilla sauce or top milk. Six servings.

Apple Bread

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 cup mild-flavored fat
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup ground or finely grated unpeeled raw apple
1/2 cup wheat germ
1/4 cup sour milk
Sift flour, salt, baking soda and baking powder. Cream fat, add sugar and cream well together. Add apple and wheat germ. Add dry ingredients alternately with sour milk. Bake in a greased loaf pan, 4 1/2" x 10", in a moderate oven, 350°F. for about 45 minutes.

Baked Apple Pudding

4 large apples
2 cups sifted pastry flour or 1 3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 cup sugar

THE LONG ROAD BACK

Factories are now changing back to peacetime production, and the huge job of catching up with telephone demands has begun. The products of the factories are being apportioned among the telephone systems of the continent. We are getting our share of telephones, wire, cables, switchboards, automatic equipment, and so forth, but it will be many months before factory deliveries enable us to make telephone installations on a normal basis.

At the time of writing, there are over two million names on the waiting lists for telephone service in North America.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

National judging competitions will be held at Toronto in November under the supervision of the Canadian Council of Boys' and Girls' Clubs. British Columbia will be represented by the following teams: Langley Dairy team, Gordon Berry, Ian Paton; Richmond Potato team, Joyce and Arthur Maddocks; Armstrong Beef team and a poultry team.

the flour mixture, blending quickly to make a soft dough (baking dish should not be more than 2/3 full). Bake in moderate oven, 350°F. for 50 minutes. Six to eight servings. If sour apples are used, sprinkle them with two tablespoons of sugar before covering with dough.

October winds blow chill and children at play or en route to school need protection in the form of extra clothes. The sun may shine brightly but its rays are weaker now. These two factors mean that no longer can hours of work or play in the open air enable the wonderful chemistry of nature work to manufacture the supply of vitamin D needed if children are to grow straight and strong.

From now until early summer the Nutrition Division of the Department of National Health and Welfare urges mothers to see that every growing child gets this essential vitamin every day through cod or other fish liver oils. They point out that the "sunshine" vitamin is present in only a few foods and the day's meals cannot supply the amounts needed by growing bodies.

Along with vitamin D, fish liver oils supply vitamin A too. This vitamin helps keep the mucous membranes in a healthy condition and so helps the children to resist infection such as colds.

To preserve its vitamin content fish liver oil is always put up in dark bottles, for vitamin A is sensitive to light.

The Health department's nutritionists advise keeping the family supply in a cool dark place and also avoiding unnecessary exposure to air. They suggest that when the economical large size bottle is bought, some of its contents be poured into a smaller dark glass container to avoid unnecessary exposure to air of the larger supply.

A GREAT PLAN FOR ALL OF B.C.

The programme of the COALITION Government is based on the development of every part of the Province, not on the needs of one section alone.

Taxes will be reduced; new schools built; educational facilities increased and teachers' salaries in rural areas raised.

Additional reforms in our Provincial-Municipal relations will be made following the setting-up of the proposed Provincial-Municipal Commission.

The $30,000,000 Reconstruction Programme, including the completion of new highways and public buildings, is designed to provide service for every part of this great Province.

The Rural Electrification Plan, instituted through the B. C. Power Commission, will bring electric light and appliances to every practicable area in B. C.

The COALITION Government is committed to the successful solution of the P.G.E. Railway problem and the development of the whole of the great and rich area it serves.

The COALITION Programme to aid Agriculture will raise the standards of living of all those engaged in B.C.'s second greatest industry.

Let's Keep British Columbia Marching Ahead!

Broadcasting House, London, the home of the British Broadcasting Corporation, which, in common with many other well-known London buildings, is floodlit, after being blacked out for the war years.

Formerly a white building, it is still wearing its wartime coloring and has the blast protection will on the ground floor with the white markings which made it discernible to pedestrians in the blackout. The flags of Russia,

Great Britain, and the U.S.A. are flown from three flag-posts just above the statue of Prospero and Ariel over the entrance. The flags of the other United Nations are flown on the Portland Place side of Broadcasting House. During the war years the building was more than once damaged by bombs and some of its staff were casualties. One explosion which occurred during the reading of the nine o'clock news bulletin was heard by listeners.

SPHAGNUM PEAT MOSS RELEASED

Sphagnum peat moss has been released from wartime controls so far as distribution is concerned though it is still under a price ceiling the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has pointed out. A product of British Columbia, it is valued by poultry raisers and green-house gardeners because of its highly absorbent qualities. During the war it was discovered to be a source of magnesium and controls over its sales were there set by the Munitions and Supply Department. These have now been removed.

PINE GROVE W.I. HEARS REPORT OF RECENT CONFERENCE

The October Meeting of the Women's Institute took place on Tuesday afternoon with three visitors present. Reports were taken from the Sunshine Committee. The Quilt was also discussed, and cost of covering decided upon. Quilt is to be wool filled for raffling.

Jam is turned in and will go forward immediately to hospital. A Halloween Party is planned for the children of the community when a prize will be given for fancy costumes, and all are to come in costume.

Mrs. Larson gave a report on the Chilliwack Conference which took place last Tuesday and Wednesday, which she and Mrs. Herrling attended, together with Mrs. Ruben.

Mrs. P. Smith spoke for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board while Mrs. McLachlin spoke of her many interesting experiences while on a tour of the Peace River country and Okanagan Valley. Mrs. McInnes gave an enlightening talk on "Racial Tolerance". Delegates were served a lovely fuffet luncheon Tuesday evening followed by local entertainment.

Mrs. Newell presented Mrs. Larson with a gift in appreciation of her services in acting as delegate. Baby spoons were presented to Mrs. Ryan and Mrs. Pearson by Mrs. Page on behalf of the Institute members. A committee was formed to pack some six overseas boxes for local boys not yet home; these to go forward as soon as possible. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. E. Boyd, Mrs. A. Edwards and Mrs. T. Ruben.

The Farmer Votes...

LES. EYRES

- Majority of voters in Chilliwack riding live in rural areas. The record of the government in relation to agriculture is all important to them.

- Both the Hart-Maitland Coalition government and Chilliwack's member for the past 8 years, Les Eyres, are worthy of the renewed support of Fraser Valley farmers. They have earned re-endorsation October 25 because:

The Government:

1. Through its Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Dr. K. C. MacDonald, the Provincial Department of Agriculture has been vigorous in its support of policies to advance the interests of B. C. farmers.
2. Has rendered continued support to measures to control Bangs disease and other cattle ailments, has made possible manufacture of necessary vaccines in this province.
3. Has assisted the establishment of a fibre flax industry.
4. Has provided $500,000 for the purchase of heavy land clearing equipment for B. C. farmers as quickly as such machinery becomes available.
5. Has by its foresight obtained a stock of derris powder for warble fly control purposes which tided farmers over the years when this essential item was in wartime short supply.
6. Has investigated and agreed to practice of the Koch treatment by veterinarians in the treatment of animal diseases.

The Member:

1. Les Eyres learned about farming the hard way, "proving up" his own homestead in Saskatchewan before World War 1. He is no stranger to the farmer's problems.
2. For 8 years he has been a member of the Standing Committee on Agriculture in the B. C. Legislature, has been a vigorous and active champion of the needs of the farmers of his riding.
3. He has been to the fore in all moves to obtain assistance for farmers in the problems of disease control. In Bangs disease and mastitis control campaigns, Les Eyres gave able support to farmers' views, deserves a due share of credit for success achieved in these fields.
4. He was one of the members of the legislature who fought for the $500,000 vote for land clearing machinery purchase, a measure which will be of tremendous assistance to farmers in outlying areas.
5. He has the experience and the vigor needed to see that the farmers' problems receive prompt, careful attention.

Every Farmer Appreciates an Efficient, Business-like Handling of His Tax Dollar .... Every Farmer Appreciates a Vigorous, Effective Member of the Legislature!

NEW LIGHTING INSTALLED ON MISSION BRIDGE

Considerable improvement has been carried out to the night illumination of the Fraser River bridge between Mission City and Matsqui.

Fourteen, new type, General Electric luminaires have been installed by Wilf Lockley's Valley Radio & Electric of Mission City. They will replace ordinary reflector type lights.

The new lighting takes the form of 150 watt lights with reflectors inside large globes and provides a better coverage of the bridge used jointly by the CPR and vehicular traffic. In addition the lights are "staggered," seven lights being placed alternately on each side of the narrow right-of-way.

One of the new-type lights has been placed at each end, greatly improving the illumination at the approaches.

In addition a new setup has been installed in the control cabin to work the electrically operated gates which close the highway approaches when trains are about to use the bridge.

CBC PROGRAM DEALS WITH PROBLEMS OF REHABILITATION

A new series on the CBC provincial network presenting the problems of the returning serviceman and what the citizens' rehabilitation committees are and are not doing, made its debut from the Vancouver studios of the CBC this week. Entitled "Civvy Street - B.C.", the program will be heard each Monday at 7:30 p.m. over CBR, CFJC, CJAT, CKLN and CKOV as well as all the repeater transmitters of the CBC Trans-Canada network in this province.

Scripting and narrating the series is Doug Nixon of the production staff at CBR Vancouver who has just returned from a five-week trip to main centres in northern, central and eastern British Columbia. By the time he travels on Vancouver Island and the north coast Nixon will have covered more than 3000 miles by auto, boat and plane.

In these B.C. communities he has collected an impressive volume of material on just what is being done to help re-establish the Canadian men and women in uniform who are returning to "Civvy Street - B.C."

"POPS" CONCERTS

Sir Ernest MacMillan was caught by the CBC photographer as he rehearsed the Toronto Symphony Orchestra for the opening broadcast of their new Friday night series to be heard nationwide this winter over the Trans-Canada network. ## SURVEYING In British Columbia

BEFORE any kind of development can take place — be it road construction, house building, farming, lumbering, shipping or airways — the location of points and areas with relation to the world and each other is essential. Each city lot must be accurately located so that there is no encroachment on other lots or on the street. Roads must be laid out accurately to service town and country; each farmer must know the limits of his property; the lumberman his timber limit; the vessel or aircraft is only safe as long as its position is known accurately with relation to the land.

This knowledge is attained through surveying, the science of locating the geographical position of points, and of tying them together into the pattern of the country. From this evolves the measurement of distances, horizontally or vertically, and of areas. The result is a map or plan.

Maps, like houses, are built up from a foundation to the finished job. The foundation of all maps is the accurate location of a number of points on the earth's surface determined by observation on the fixed stars. From these points the foundation is carried over the country by measurements of various kinds, including aerial photographs. The use of vertical photographs taken from the air was highly developed and refined during the recent war.

British Columbia has been a leader in using this form of surveying and has developed unique methods of combining air photographs with others taken on the ground to secure an accurate delineation of the surface of the Province. Over 60,000 square miles, or one-sixth of the Province, have been so mapped.

There are over 125,000 aerial photographs on file with the Surveyor General, which are much used by officials and the public alike.

The Surveyor General of British Columbia has charge of all surveys and mapping in the Province. A large part of his staff and their time is devoted to the production of maps, of which over 60 have been published. These range from a map of the Province at 16 miles to the inch to detailed plans of small lots.

Probably the most useful maps are the one mile to the inch topographical maps, as they show by contour lines the shape of the surface. All may be seen or copies secured from the office of the Surveyor General.

PLANNING for TOMORROW'S FARMING

PUT PASTURES TO WORK

By Leonard A. Zink, Sardis, B.C.

(NOTE—This is the eighth in a series of comments by well-known authorities, written expressly for the Weekly press of British Columbia.)

Pastures in the past have received only part of the care and management due them. Pasture is one of the most important crops of the farm. The well known phrase "as goes the pasture so goes the dairy industry" is well borne out in British Columbia farming. With intensive farming on high priced lands the value of good quality, economy feed cannot be over emphasized.

It can be easily said that at one time or another every farmer sees his pastures in a worn-down stage and the empty milk pail registers the result. In coastal areas, abundant rainfall usually means abundant early summer hay and pasture, but a dry summer and fall as experienced in the current year results in pasture deficiency to the extent of considerable costly supplementary feeding.

Feeding value of good pasture is relation to other feed stuffs puts it in first place for economy of production, and in addition contains all the factors required for perfect nutrition. It is the cheapest feed for a greater proportion of the year and is harvested with little cost and difficulty. Good pasturage contains a high content of protein minerals and carotene, and when grazed in the immature state the fibre is highly digestible. However, pastures lose their value when uncared for — the forage becomes stemmy and high in fibre, lacks succulence and palatability. Permanent pastures when established are easily maintained at little cost but considerable preparation of most existing pasture areas is required before the most productive stages are reached.

Well Drained Land Needed

In establishing good pasture many factors come under consideration. Well drained, low fertile land is the most adaptable. It is necessary to have the land well worked and free of weeds with early seeding to ensure a strong stand. Where moisture is sufficient then nurse crops can be sown with the pasture mixture, but it is unwise to sow the nurse crop too heavily. In soil preparation a good firm seed bed is required and the cultipacker is sufficient to press the seed firmly into the soil. Deep seeding is not conducive to a good catch.

In choosing a pasture mixture, choose one adaptable to the locality. Information in this respect can be readily obtained from an Experimental Station or the office of a District Agriculturist. However, a balance between legumes and grasses is desirable. A division of fields for pasture planting in relation to growth will offer rotational grazing. One field, predominantly orchard grass, will provide early succulent growth, followed with those of perennial rye grass or alfalfa and brome, and the clovers for later summer aftermath as first crops are harvested.

Pasture location is important. They should be near the barn for saving in time and energy. Likewise better attention can be given the herd if near at hand. Water supply is a factor and unless a natural supply is in readiness this problem may be more readily met within the area of the farm buildings. If pastures cannot all be situated near buildings then a series of fields and a convenient lane is usual.

Although pasturage is the most desirable feed, only in certain favored areas do the pastures remain good throughout the season. Usually the pasture is only good for a month or two, then declines rapidly in its feeding value. If such is the case then supplementary pasturage or feeding of grain, hay or silage must be considered. When the pasture is good, vary little supplementary feeding is necessary except in the case of heavy producing cows. However, as the pasture declines then more supplementary feeding becomes necessary to maintain milk production and condition of the

BRITAIN APPEALS FOR BACON

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, announced in the House of Commons that he had received a Trans-Atlantic telephone call from Sir Ben Smith, British Food Minister, appealing for additional bacon shipments from Canada. Unless this can be done it will be necessary to reduce the British rations to two ounces weekly. Mr. Gardiner said that Canada will endeavor to increase her shipments by 6,000 tons during October and November.

CONVENTION BAN LIFTED

Indications that the present heavy travelling trend will have eased off by November is responsible for the decision of the War-time Prices and Trade Board to remove the restrictions on conventions and other gatherings of more than fifty people who have to travel by rail, bus or steamer, which have been in effect since early summer. The ban will be removed on November 1.

Fighting with each other causes trouble. Fighting for each other solves it.

Electricity 1.89%

YOUR electric bill today covers a multitude of services—such as washing and ironing, refrigeration, cooking and water heating.

Yet the average domestic electric bill amounts to 1.89% of the average wage earner's living expenses.

Electricity is one of your biggest bargains. Rates have been going down steadily, and are now among the lowest on the continent.

animal. For supplementary pasturage, to offset the unproductive perennial grasses during the dry summer months, such crops as rye, wheat, barley, oats and peas are satisfactory. These annuals have a recognized carrying capacity in midsummer of two to four times that of permanent pasturage. Larger yields, along with the advantage of having pasturage to replace barn feeds when grass pastures are low, more than offset the expense of preparing the ground for seeding.

Requires Three Years

Good permanent pasture requires some three years to get into production. Once into production it requires sufficient care to maintain it in a satisfactory grazing condition. Pastures should never be grazed too short — and never after feeding. Spring harrowing is essential to spread the droppings, level the mole hills and free the root system from infiltrating moss. A combination tooth and chain harrow is probably one of the most satisfactory types. Weak stands should be reseeded in the fall or early spring and fertilization is a must. Heavy applications of barnyard manure if applied early enough will be absorbed before grazing. Liquid manure is an excellent booster, if available. Commercial fertilizers, especially phosphates, will do well in balancing out the barnyard manure, and since most of our B.C. Coast soils lack calcium, liming is to good advantage.

Pastures must have rest. If fields are divided sufficiently small to graze off in seven to ten days then sufficient time must be given to let the stand regain its growth. Division of fields with electric fences is an economical pasture and allows closer and more careful utilization of pastures.

Pasture crops in most dairying areas are such that fields of accelerated spring growth are used for hay purposes. However, in humid areas there is up to thirty per cent loss in feeding value of a hay crop during field curing, harvesting and storage, whereas silage can be harvested when crops are at their highest point in feeding value regardless of weather, and can be put up with a loss of only some five to fifteen per cent. It therefore seems that harvesting of grass silage is a worthwhile complement to grassland farming. During wartime restrictions labor shortage plus lack of available machinery has curtailed many plans for extension of grassland farming. But after the war the farmers with available return on Victory Bonds will be in a position to obtain green forage croppers and power mowers that will enable grass silage to be a more desirable link in pasture management.

GLEANNINGS FROM OTTAWA

reading about. It is very pleasant to relax, these fall evenings, and think of the things that you will have one of these days. How many of these fall musings are just idle dreams, and how many of them will be realized, I don't know. But as the song says, "I can dream, can't I!"

And when I'm not using these crisp fall evenings to think about homes of the future, I'm exclaiming about the fruits and vegetables that the farmers of Canada are supplying our table with.

For instance, those medium-sized green squash (I call them pepper squash, but I don't know if that's the right name). Is there anything more delicious! And peppers, red and green ones. Stuffed with sausage meat, and baked, or chopped up in a salad... I can go for that any day in the week. And so many of the other vegetables are delicious at this time of the year. Eggplant is another of them, and Swiss chard is another. Later on this winter, when we can't get these things... or else the imported ones will be too expensive... we're really going to miss them. I know I am.

Now It Can Be Told

It is good to know that "reasons of security" no longer hold up information about all sorts of things in which we all have a vital interest.

For instance, how much of our food is going to which countries. Take canned meat, an important relief food. The Canadian Meat Board now reports that up to September 15, overseas shipments of Canadian canned meat during 1945 totalled 49,419,794 lbs.

The largest portion, 25,387,944 lbs. went for distribution through UNRRA to Greece who got 7,645,704 lbs.; Poland 7,305,336 lbs.; Yugoslavia, 5,808,780 lbs.; Czechoslovakia, 4,358,088 lbs.; and Albania, 270,036 lbs.

To be used in military relief 16,924,354 lbs. were shipped.

Britain got 6,295,496 lbs. and France 862,000 lbs.

now, but they will be of even greater importance in post-war reconversion, especially with changes in subsidies and markets. Thus the dairy industry would do well to put its pastures to work. Herds must spend more time on good producing pastures. Pastures need fertilization — Need care and management. Plan now to use those Victory Bonds for better postwar pastures.

Check over your pasture program now and plan to renovate your old pastures — increase your acreage of legumes and grasses — supply the necessary fertilization from your barnyard manures and commercial supplement — need to be recognized as a major feed line.
